MEETS AT WINSTON-SALEM.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] insten-Salem, N. C., January 1

The midwinter convention of the Carolina Association of Circulation Managers opened in this city this afternoon. The meetings are largely of a social nature, although many points of value are exchanged by the members who have charge of the circulation departments of the larger papers in North and South Carolina.

Coinel J. L. Ludlow, president of the Winston-Salem Board of Trade, in a brief address, welcomed the circulation men to the city. Sam M. Burnett, president of the association, responded. The principal addresses scheduled for the meeting will be made by J. L. Erwin, of The Columbia State, M. C. Brunson, of The Charleston News and Courier; R. E. Yates and H. F. Smith, of the Richmond Times-Dispatch; W. A. Kendall, of The Asheville Citizen, and T. W. Chambliss, of The Charlotte Observer.

I am glad to say that since using only two bottles of Cardui the woman's tonic, I am in better health than for many years before.

I don't suffer any pains now. I can't begin to say enough for the Cardui treatment. I shall not go without Cardui in my house.

They give Cardui the highest praise. Cardui helps nature to perform a cure in a natural, easy way. It is made from mild herbs, having a gentle tonic effect on the womanly constitution.

Cardui improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks fresh and rosy.

For pain, weakness, and any of the troubles from which weak women suffer, Cardui has proven its helping, curative

AMUSEMENTS

William Faversham is announced to appear in his latest comely success, "The Faun," at the Academy Monday night.

Mr. Faversham has always been a welcome dramatle visitor in this city, and his present engagement promises to be especially noteworthy, inasmuch as Mr. Faversham will again display his wonderful gift for comedy that was so apparent in "Lord and Lady Algy," but which has been somewhat dormant the last few seasons, during which the dramatle stresses of "The Squaw Man" and the tragedles of "Herod" have focussed his attention away from more jovial roads. Not only is "The Faun" constantly and irresistibly amusting, but it unconsciously points trenchant moral in the direction of naturalness, sincerity and joyousness in living. Seats ready to-day. Dockstader's Minstrels.

Society seems to have taken a keen interest in the forthcoming engagement of "Lew Dockstader's Great Minstrels," which is scheduled to appear at the Academy to-morrow and Saturday and Saturday matthee. The entalnment provided by Mr. Dockstader and his numerous associates this season is varied, picturesque, mirth-compelling and melodious. The gorgeous setting of the first part is said to be spectacular to a degree, a triumph of the scenic painter's art. Mr. Dockstader has a new line of splendid songs, and a monologue that is rich in humor. Neil O'Brien, the irrepressible black-faced comedian, is one of the principal funimakers. Manuel Romain, "Les" Copeland, "Happy" Naulty, Master Charles Leo, Roy La Pearl, Pete Detrell, Henry DeCunea, Major Nowak and Don Ferrandou are among the other burnt cork artists. There will be a grand street review at midday.

TRIP TO NORFOLK MADE BY STEAMER MIDDLESEX

Is lee-Bound at Annapolis—Woman Burned to Death.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Fredericksburg, Va., January 17.—
The steamer Middlesex, which made the trip to Norfolk from the Rappahannock River Saturday, taking the place of the steamer Potomac, which is icebound at Annapolis, Md., returned to the Rappahannock River Tuesday morning and plowed through the lie to a point near Sharps. The steamer left for another trip to Norfolk and will attempt to reach Ballimore by the latter part of the week.

Colonial Beach, in Westmoreland county, on the Potomac River, is entirely cut off from communication with the outsife world, except by telephone and overland transportation with vehicles. Potomac River is frozen so that none of the steamers cun travel, and the little town has almost run out of household slupplies. Wagons have made a trip from there, a distance of forty miles from this city,
and have secured merchandise here,
and this mode will probably be continued for obtaining necessaries untinavigation on the river is resumed.

B. P. Willis, special commissioner, sold at public auction under a decree of court, a small tract of land in Orange county, near Locust Grove, containing eighty-three acres. It was purchased by H. E. Tinder, of Locust Grove, for $575. The sale was subject to confirmation of court.
Miss Bethsheba Brooks, a resident of Mathews county, who had reached the advanced age of eighty years, was burned to death a few days ago. She was putting some wood on the fire in an open fireplace when her clothling caught, and before assistance could reach her, she was so severely burned that death resulted in a short time.

ARRESTED IN GEORGIA.

Man Wauted for Murder Expresses No Regrets for His Action.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Ashevillé, N. C. January 17.—Jesse Upton, who on the day before Christmas killed his father-in-law, George Brendle, and his brother-in-law, Mann Brendle, with a Winchester rifle, has been captured, and is now in the hands of officers of Swain county, where the killings occurred.

Killings occurred.

Upton was captured by W. T. Conley, of Lavonia, Ga., a former resident of Swain county, to whose home Upton is said to have gone when he got into trouble. Learning that a reward of $300 had been offered for Upton's arrest, the Georgian captured him and turned him over to officers.

Upton was brought through this city yesterday, and declared that he had killed his kinsmen and had no regrets for his action. He stated that he had warned them to stay away from his property, and that they had come to hig home on Christma? Eve, at which time he decided to carry out his threat, which he had made on previous occasions, to the effect that if he over caught them on his land he would kill them.

The killing, it is said was the re-caught them on the said, was the re-them.

The killing, it is said, was the re-sult of bad blood which had existed for years, and both the men who were killed and the man who stands charged with murder are wealthy land owners and sturdy mountaineers.

CPTY TREASURER BOYKIN HOLDS ON TO HIS OFFICE

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Suffolk, Va. January 17.—After sunset this evening M. F. Lloyd, through counsel, filed quo warranto proceedings against Colonel R. S. Boykin, City Treasurer, following a denial of the formal demand to surrender the office on the part of the incumbent treasurer. The case will be carried to the city Circuit Court, thence to the State Court of Appeals. Lloyd bases his claim to the office on the receipt of two votes at the November election. Colonel Boykin, though the Democratic nomines, failed to have his name on the official bailot.
